NOVEL. BY S. S.: A garden bower, heavy with the perfumes of flowering honeysuckle and roses, lay before her. Gathering a pile of socks which she was to darn, she went and sat down upon a bench beneath the vines, brushing aside the trailing blossoms. But beneath the crimson roses lurked a nest of wasps. Disturbed and angered, they swarmed upon her. Screaming in pain, stung in two dozen places, she fled from the lovely bower. She fainted upon the doorstep of her home, the voice of the man whose socks she was darning ringing in her ears as he bawled her out for making so much fuss, for her was her husband.

SHALL THE HOLES IN OUR STREETS BE ROUND OR SQUARE? NOSEY REPORTER GETS WILD

Dolly Hoofenguffus, cabaret ex-dancer: I am for round holes in concrete streets and square holes in shelled streets and I believe you'll find 'em there. If the city fathers would pass ordinances to the effect that rough streets should be shaved by master street barbers it would be a beautiful idea. You take Fifth street for instance—it has holes in it that are both round and square and it isn't uniform. If we must have holes in our streets let's shave them both alike. Most of the streets in my ward are full of holes of every size and description—I want 'em standardized.

Jack Joblots, barroom tenor: Well, son, I'm a rounder from h—ll to breakfast. Naturally I carry my own personal convictions as to the topography of street holes. Let them be round, say I, but not too deep. I know of no better feeling than that of motoring over a smooth road, paved or unpaved, full of round holes. It gives you a comfortable feeling around the neck of the heart, amuses the children who can see how near you can come to busting your head and, in general gives all persons using the holy streets the same exhilaration they'd get by paying 10 cents to ride the Nawth End's bump-the-bumps.

Luke d'Luke, Duke of Katch-as-Katch-Kan: I'm against holes of any description in our streets. This may seem a radical departure from the course pursued by ordinary contractors, but I frankly admit futuristic traits. In the future, some time in the future if not now, there will be no holes in the streets and I don't believe it is wise to encourage our children to look for street holes now as they bicycle playfully about as they'd want them when grown up and the holes had ceased to function. Of course streets full of holes are a civic asset, as they get people to talking, but I am against it.

Hira Dhry, president 10-Penny Nail Manicure company: I don't like to speak for publication as I never intend to run for mayor of Port Arthur in 1925 and consequently having my name in the paper doesn't tickle me, but I'm for square holes in city streets. We had them when I was a boy along with our pretzels and 6 per cent. If they must and have taken our beer away let them leave us our streets. The ordinary street here today is monotonous because of its smoothness and bumpiness—depending on locality. A few holes now and then are relished by the best of men.

MOSCOW DEMANDS WAR WITH BRITAIN

GAS ISSUE POPS ON WEDNESDAY

Low to Take Suit Before the Federal Court

DATE IS CHANGED

Admiralty Docket to Open Monday

Sidetracked for admiralty hearings in federal court Monday, the Peoples Gas company's injunction suit against the city of Port Arthur, seeking to restrain the city commission from putting any rate other than $2.70 into effect, probably will not get a hearing before Judge W. Lee Estes before next Wednesday.

This is the word Saturday night from Vernon J. Wistner, city attorney, and E. Y. Low, manager of the Peoples Gas company, who were advised Saturday that the gas rate injunction hearing, scheduled for Monday, would have to be postponed as Judge Estes has called the admiralty docket for that day.

Wistner to appear. "Change in the date for hearing the injunction case came after a wire had been sent to Engineer Baldwin, of the firm of Burns and McDonnell appraisal engineers, to be in Beaumont Monday morning," Wistner said. A wire was immediately sent back informing Baldwin of the change in the hearing date, and asking him to stay in Kansas City until further notice from the city, Wistner said.

"While J. R. Baldwin, United States district clerk, advised me Saturday it will be useless for the city to have witnesses in Beaumont Monday as a result of the admiralty docket being called, I will go to federal court and endeavor to find out when the injunction hearing will be called," Wistner said. "In the event Judge Estes wants to set the case for a hearing in the very near future, I shall ask that time be allowed by the court for the

UNIVERSITY EXES GO AGAINST NEFF

Say Political Angle Prejudicial to Prexy Election

AUSTIN, Texas, May 12.—The executive council of university students at a meeting Saturday went on record as being opposed to the selection of Governor Neff as president of the university to succeed Dr. R. E. Vinson, resigned. The meeting was called and presided over by Dr. O. Ballington of Wichita Falls, president of the association.

Ask Postponement

The association asked postponement of the election for one month and invited that for Governor Neff as a governor, friend of the university, and Christian gentleman, they had only words of commendation and praise.

"A president of the university, in addition to being a man of sterling worth, executive ability, and common sense, should be also an experienced and able educator," the resolution read. "In addition," it said, "we are opposed to any governor, however well-qualified he may be, as president of the University of Texas, because his election, coming as it necessarily would from a board composed in part at least of his own appointees, would be against sound public policy."

Seek Educator

The council suggested that a new president should be selected from a class of men such as Dr. H. Y. Benedict of the university, Dr. H. B. Hall, president of A. and M. college, Dr. Marvin L. Graves, Galveston; Dr. C. Datto of the university law department and Dr. S. P. Brooks of Baylor university.

AUSTIN, May 12.—A Mother's Day message to the people of Texas was written by Governor Neff Saturday. The tribute to the mothers of Texas declared:

"Cherishing tender memories of a sainted mother, or bowing lovingly at the knee of the living, let us pay fitting tribute to our mothers and by so doing renew the ideals instilled in childhood and recharge the batteries of life in order that we may more cheerfully, circumspectly and faithfully, run the remaining race of life."

Visited by hundreds of Port Arthurians Saturday afternoon and with prizes awarded to prize winning boy and girl babies born in the institution during the past year, Mary Gates hospital had its second annual observance of national hospital day Saturday with a baby show and open house.

29 Babies Entered

Of the twenty-nine babies entered in the lists for prizes in the baby show, little Dorothy Perkins, born Oct. 25, 1922, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Perkins, 848 Stillwell boulevard, scored 99 2-3, winning the 2nd first prize, and J. A. Goodwin, Jr., born Oct. 13, 1922, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Goodwin, 1939 San Augustine avenue, won first prize in the boys' contest with a 99 2-3 score.

Second prize winners were Elizabeth Safely, born Nov. 26, 1922, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Safely, judged 99 1-5 per cent perfect in the girls' lists, and Carlyle Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Smith.

In addition to the prizes awarded by the hospital, other prizes were awarded by the Dentist department to the six highest babies entered in the hospital's show. The six highest winners in the hospital's show, prizes were presented by dentist to William Ross Skinner, born Aug. 17, 1922, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Last Entry Wins Prize

As in the baby show held by the hospital last year, the first prize for the girl baby was taken by a baby entered at the last minute, the doctors and nurses conducting the examinations having disbanded and all the other babies examined and given marks. None of the judges knew the babies entered, each going by a number pinned on as they came into the hospital.

Silver cups were presented the babies winning the first prizes and little baby spoons were given the winners of the second prizes at the hospital, while six prizes presented by Dentist were articles of babies' wearing apparel and playthings.

At the conclusion of the baby show, a musical program was given at the nurses' home, adjoining the hospital, numbers being sung by Mrs. R. L. Drake, Mrs. Gladys Burton, Miss Hortense Smith and Mrs. E. H. McGuire. Mrs. Thomas B. Sappington played a piano solo. Mrs. Joe S. Park was accompanist.

SAY SIMMONS, EVANS IN FEUD

Emperor Reported to Have Signed Statement

By United Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 12.—Hostilities within the ranks of the Ku Klux Klan between William J. Simmons, imperial emperor and Imperial Wizard H. W. Evans flared anew tonight.

In a signed statement, issued tonight, Simmons charged Evans and J. B. Comer, grand dragon of the Arkansas realm, with forming a "conspiracy" to discredit "the Kamelion" women's secret order, which he founded and establish an order for women under their personal supervision.

The statement also charged Evans with having been paid excessive fees.

Close associates of Simmons said that the recent court order putting an end to the Evans-Simmons fight for control of the order had not healed the breach between the two men, but had merely transferred it from the courts to the inner circles of the Klan.

Several days ago, it is said, Simmons' representative appeared before the Kamelion, governing body of the Klan, and attempted to present the above charges, but the Kamelion refused to hear them at the time.

MOTHER FACES FITCH ON STAND

Witness in Hazing Murder Repudiates Admission

FRATERNAL PLEDGE

Also Repudiates Statement Scott's Story False

By United Press.

CHICAGO, May 12.—Roscoe Conklin Fitch, a former roommate of the dead youth, repudiated alleged admissions tonight that he knew details of the death of Leighton Mount, Northwestern University student, alleged to have been killed by hazers.

Mother Confronts Him

After John Sharboro, assistant state attorney, announced that Fitch had broken down and declared, "I know all about it, but am sworn to secrecy," the youth was confronted by Mrs. J. L. Mount, mother of Leighton.

"I don't know a thing about it," Mr. Sharboro had me confused in questioning me about Louis Aubrey," Fitch then declared.

Sharboro had also previously announced that Fitch claimed that Aubrey, a student killed recently in an automobile accident, met death during a hazing affair when the car in which he was riding was "zigzagged" purposely.

Cited Pledge

At the time of the accident it was announced that students in the death row were searching for a classmate alleged to have been kidnapped by rival clansmen. Aubrey's automobile collided with another machine.

Previous to repudiating his story about Mount's case, Fitch declared that students were under a fraternal pledge not to talk about Mount's death and that students were pledged by President Walter Dill Scott not to say anything about the case that would harm the university, according to Sharboro.

Fitch also repudiated an alleged statement that a statement by Scott and the latter's grand jury testimony was "untrue."

two committees present and they were called on to give a speech. Mr. Miller was called on first but he said he didn't know how to talk so he had to take his word for it. Mr. Collins was then called on and he told the troop that all the boys could not go to camp on account of losing a job not because any good man would keep a job open another week or two if it was to give a boy a good time.

Mr. Blanchet, our assistant Scoutmaster, was at the meeting Tuesday. This is the first meeting he has attended for a long time on account of having to work until a late hour. He also told the troop that he had come back to stay and learn lots of Scout stuff.

Mr. Holter also gave us a talk on the 20th of May he said he took the troop on an overnight hike and he particularly told the boys to come prepared and to live up to their motto "Be Prepared."

He told the boys to bring all their own things and the ones that don't bring anything don't get anything. The troop then fell in for some drilling and a few tests were passed also. After about 20 minutes drill Mr. Holter had a treat for us. He brought out a big bag full of snacks. We played a game and then the official troop bugler blew assembly and we had a flag ceremony after which the troop was dismissed.

After the meeting some dues were collected and now we have exactly $20 in the treasury.

GIRL'S GAME IS CAUSE OF ROW

Preacher Objects to Card Playing on Train

AINSWORTH, Neb., May 12.—It now appears that it was a card game played by members of the girls' basketball team attached to the high school while they were on a train to Valentine that was the reason for the attack on the school board by the Rev. Mr. McDaniel, local preacher. To make the offense all the more heinous in the eyes of the minister, the team sponsor, who was along, took part in the game. The fact that the journey was a long tedious one, mitigated it not the least in his sight.

In a sermon shortly thereafter the minister caustically criticized the faculty and let it be understood that he didn't think the members were looking after the girls and boys properly. Superintendent Dodge replied in kind, the school board got after the preacher, the preacher said he was willing to stand by what he said, and a row followed.

The Rev. Mr. McDaniel had considerable backing among the patrons of the school and after an open hearing before the school board it was decided to give the family a vote of confidence by electing them for another year, with the understanding that they would not accept in order that harmony might be restored among all elements in the town.

DETROIT, Mich., May 12.—His unwillingness to be "stumped" on a dare led 11-year-old Thomas Turner to accept the challenge of a playmate to drink the contents of a bottle of ink. As a result Thomas was taken by a passing motorist from a vacant lot at Jefferson avenue and Dickerson avenue south, to Receiving Hospital, where he was given first aid. He returned home the next day.

Seminary Student's Body Not Recovered

AUSTIN, May 12.—Forty-six hours have elapsed in the capital since a body was found in the canal in the city of Austin. The body of a young man, identified as Charles Albert McCurdy, student of the Austin Theological Seminary, and Miss Mildred Morris of Houston, University of Texas student, were riding and the body of McCurdy was not recovered. Miss Morris, who succeeded in getting ashore after she and her companion were spilled into the lake by the overturning of the boat, has returned to her home at Houston. She is inclined to the belief that McCurdy lost his life in efforts to get her to the shore, declaring that the last words she heard him utter were: "Keep a level head, Mildred, and trust me to get you out." Miss Morris said that when these words were uttered she and McCurdy were swimming, and shortly afterward she lost consciousness. When she regained consciousness she was lying at the water's edge and McCurdy had disappeared.

Reward of $250 for the recovery of McCurdy's body was offered Saturday by W. E. Long, secretary of the Austin Chapter of the Y. M. C. A.

AGED WORKER SHARES IN $2,000,000 ESTATE

LINCOLN, Neb., May 12.—After working 53 years as a foundryman, John Roberts has fallen heir to a fortune that will run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. He has received a draft of $100,000 and has gone to England with a niece who came here to escort him to the home he left more than 50 years ago.

Robert is 83 years old, vigorous and well preserved. He was one of the early settlers, opening a foundry shortly after he came from England. He operated it until he received the inheritance.

The fortune came from Henry Roberts, a younger brother, who, when a young man, left England for South Africa. After an adventurous career he became affiliated with the De Beers syndicate in the diamond-mining game, and at his death left a fortune of more than $2,000,000. His wife and son died years ago.

Other heirs to the estate who shared in the will are the widow and three children of the testator's son, a sister, and several nieces and nephews, all of whom are residents of England.

HANGS SELF AT HOME

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., May 12.—Despondent over ill health, Sam Prossack, 50 years old, took his life here by hanging himself to a rafter in a woodshed at his home. The widow and six children survive.

TROUSERS FOR WOMEN HELD LEGAL ATTIRE

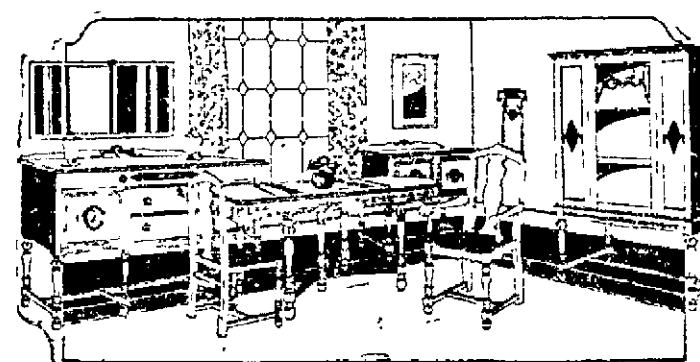

OLYMPIA, Wash., May 12.—Women in this state may wear trousers when and where they please, according to a ruling of the attorney general. The decision came when the town marshal of Zillah became exercised over the carrying on of some of the feminine population of that vicinity. He said he objected to the parading of Zillah's streets by female persons attired in pants, but his authority was so decided he appealed to the state's attorney to stop the practice.

In the fruit section around Zillah women do much agricultural work and go about trousered generally.

Our employees are told it's their duty to you and to the company to turn in immediately any suggestions they may have on improving our service.

But you folks outside this organization might see some big chance for betterment that would never occur to us, here on the inside.

So we hope you'll confide in us. Don't imagine that you'll be classed a "kicker" if you write in with some complaint. You're paying for electric service—you have a perfect right to your "say-so."

SOVIET BLAMED FOR KIDNAPING

OMAHA, Neb., May 12.—Friends of Benjamin Adamowski, Russian pianist, who suddenly dropped from sight Thursday on the eve of his appearance at a recital here, feared he may be the victim of foul play at the hands of plotters from Soviet Russia.

Adamowski's story as told to friends here before his disappearance reads like "The Yellow Passport," a story of a beautiful Russian singer who came to this country and was bound to the bolshevik before he could leave Russia," he told Sherman.

Adamowski had been in this country less than a year. Recently he told a friend, Julius Sherman, of his fear of the bolshevik.

"I was compelled to sign a contract with the bolshevik to return to Russia in two years and to send 50 per cent of my earnings while in America to the bolshevik before I could leave Russia," he told Sherman.

Wished to be Citizen

Recently he announced his intention of becoming an American citizen and this was reported to the bolshevik, according to his story.

"He said he believed he was being shadowed, and the fear that his enemies might assassinate him was destroying his nerve," Sherman said tonight.

"His sudden faintings, I believe, were very real and were caused by his fear of his shadowers."

The rented palace furnishes none of the comforts of the home you really and truly call your own.

It's all wrong, this idea of paying rent. It seems as much out of place as renting the other fellow's clothes or shoes and then having to hand them back at the end of the month.

You can pay rent and stay behind the game all your life, most folks who start out that way do.

Start right now, begin to get ahead, to own your own home and other property.

Or invest in a little and add a small sum to it each month, $25 per month, and you'll have a home in the Groves, the highest, best drained land in this part of the country. These lots are bound to double in value.

The Groves, in the center of everything, it's the logical place to build your home. Port Arthur, 10 minutes from Nederland, 5 minutes from Port Neches, 5 minutes from the Atlantic Refining Co., and the price, the lots are more than twice the size of our city lots.

Don't wait six months and then wish you had bought six months ago. Now is your chance to "get in on the ground floor."

The prices are going up. Invest $25 or $50 now and make the small payments. You'll come out on top if you do.

MOTHER'S DAY TO BE OBSERVED WITH APPROPRIATE SERVICES AT PORT ARTHUR CHURCHES TODAY

TODAY is Mother's Day.

What tender memories, what loving thoughts, what wonderful recollections are inspired by that beautiful word—Mother.

What finer pictures are presented in the Book of Books than those which portray the mother spirit. Its love and solicitude shine like a halo above the basket hidden in the rushes on the banks of the Nile. Its prayerful guidance instills in the boy Samuel such a consciousness of the presence of God, that the quiet hours of the night are filled with his voice. Its deep rooted faith in the power of God reaches out to the prophet Elisa and restores life to a son departed. And in the fine etching of the Epistles the mother of Timothy is revealed, laying the foundation for a life of power by a careful training in the Scriptures.

Often we underestimate what mothers do because it is done so quietly. Yet it must be that he who writes the Book of Life makes many entries of mothers' work for the betterment of the world. Her all-consuming love for her children, her implicit faith in God, her patience that is confident of results—these are qualities which today are recalled with grateful appreciation. In this memory we renew our determination to honor our mothers, not only with words and flowers, but also with our lives, that they may know they have not lived in vain.

It is not so many years since the celebration of Mother's Day became a publicly recognized occasion, but its observance has grown so rapidly and become so popular that it is now a custom in almost every home in the land.

To Miss Anna Jarvis of Philadelphia, Pa., the nation owes a debt of gratitude for having given the idea of annually setting apart a day for special observance in honor of home and mother.

Mother's Day was first celebrated in a number of cities in the United States in 1910; but it was in 1914 that the first public proclamation of Mother's Day was made. The first national proclamation was issued by President Woodrow Wilson on May 9, 1914.

The thought of a special "Mother's Day" in Sunday schools and churches originated with Miss Jarvis when she was asked by the superintendent of the Sunday school in the Virginia town in which her deceased mother had long been the moving spirit to arrange a memorial service. With the carrying out of this congenial and sacred duty came a realization of the growing lack of tender consideration for absent mothers, among worldly-minded, busy, grown-up children; of the thoughtless neglect of home ties and of loving consideration, engendered by the whirl and pressure of modern life; of the lack of respect and deference to parents among children of the present generation; of the need of a reminder of the loving, unselfish mother, living or dead. And thus the "Mother's Day" idea came into the churches and Sunday schools, and has been expanded to include an outward demonstration of the latent love and gratitude to mothers, by a gift, words of appreciation, an act of kindness, or a letter, on the part of everybody.

Port Arthur churches have arranged appropriate services for the observance of Mother's Day today and special music suitable to the occasion will be rendered at the churches. One of the most beautiful customs in connection with Mother's Day is the wearing of a flower as a visible token of our reverence of Motherhood. And what could more beautifully express the love, the honor, and the tenderness which the name "mother" brings to our mind, than flowers—the sweetest and purest of Nature's handiwork?

The churches are arranging to present flowers to those not wearing them Sunday morning. White carnations were the flowers originally chosen as the flower for Mother's Day, but any flower is appropriate—any flower for the mother who has passed into the Great Beyond and for any color of flower if the mother is still living.

Port Arthur Pushes Plans for 25th Birthday, to be Greatest Ever Held in Southwest

How Celebration Will Be The Biggest Day in City's History Since K.C.S. Came to Depict in Pageantry its Marvelous Growth to 40,032; Queen and Princesses to Hold Court While 6 Bands Play and Populace Pays Homage

With dancing, fireworks, speaking, monster fish fry carnival and revues, parades of decorated floats and crowning of a queen, Port Arthur will celebrate her 25th birthday July 4 with the biggest birthday party ever given in the south.

"This is the outline of the plan for the festivities given out Saturday by John L. Drake, general chairman of the quarter-centennial celebration, for which $50,000 for staging the function has been guaranteed by the Young Men's Business League.

"Credit should be given to Mr. J. L. Drake, who is the driving force in this important event, the twenty-fifth anniversary of the chartering of Port Arthur as an incorporated village, should be properly celebrated," Drake said.

From Far and Near

After this idea had been placed before the Y.M.B.L. and R. L. Drake, invited to take charge of the celebration, the league to raise all the funds necessary for putting it on, plans and program were quickly formulated. Committees and committees were named, and now the whole organization is moving off towards the actual events of the quarter-centennial celebration.

Not only all of Port Arthur, but residents of Texas and Louisiana cities and towns, far and near, will be told of this city's monster birthday party and will be invited to come and enjoy the day with Port Arthur.

Governor Pat M. Neff will be invited to make a speech here, and other prominent Texans and Louisianians will be invited to speak at the birthday party. George N. Bliss, chairman of the committee on speakers, said.

Decorations more elaborate than ever attempted in Port Arthur are being prepared for the celebration, the display of flags and bunting not only to be placed on downtown business places, but on private residences throughout Port Arthur. The decoration of private residences will be especially stressed.

Starts at 10 O'Clock

Opening at 10 o'clock in the morning, with a pageant parade, depicting the early history and growth of Port Arthur, the birthday party will continue throughout the day, closing with a grand ball for the queen, princesses, and her court and a huge pyrotechnic display in Lake Sabine at the end of the Pleasure Pier, after dark.

The pageant will be prepared under the direction of Mrs. Edith Jones and Mrs. E. S. Carter, chairman at the Gates Memorial Library, chairman of the committee on compiling the historical data for the pageant.

At noon a monster fish fry will be served to the thousands attending the birthday party. For this fry, hundreds of pounds of the finest fish available will be prepared, and while it has not been definitely determined just where the fish will be served, the block on Waco avenue, between Fifth and Procter streets has been tentatively decided upon. Recalling the "early days" when every incoming train brought hundreds of prospectors, sight-seers, homeseekers and tourists to Port Arthur, the through the birthday party will be served in the open air.

Six or Eight Bands

Six or eight bands will be hired and brought to Port Arthur to make music throughout the day and far into the night. Three concerts by these bands at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of July 4, one at the corner of Procter street and Houston avenue, another at the Austin-Procter corner, and the third at Lions Park; and in the evening at 7 o'clock, a concert on the combined bands is planned for the Queen's Carnival, when the queen will be crowned, and dancing and revelry will follow the ceremony in the court arena brilliantly lighted by thousands of colored electric lights.

The Fourth of July address will be delivered by Governor Pat M. Neff, or some other prominent speaker at 3:30 p. m., immediately after the band concerts. The speakers' stand has not been finally located, but will probably be placed on the corner of Austin avenue and Fifth street.

Three-legged races, climbing a greased pole, and catching a greased pig are scheduled for a part of the events of the sport show at 3 o'clock, and the Baby Show also will be held at Lions Park sometime between 3 and 4 o'clock, with prizes presented to the winning boys and girls. At the top of the greased pole will be a $20 bill for the successful climber to pluck as his own, and the one who catches and holds the greased pig can claim the porker.

Mammoth Prize Cake

Believing that no birthday party could be complete without a birthday cake, it is planned to have a mammoth cake, filled with prizes, as a part of Port Arthur's 25th birthday party. When the races, sporting events, and baby show are concluded between 3 and 4 o'clock, prizes will be drawn from the big birthday cake. It will be the largest cake ever baked in Texas, it is said, and will contain 25 silver prizes to be drawn for. The drawing will be staged at the corner of Austin avenue and Procter street.

Throughout the afternoon, the carnival spirit will run rampant, with games and amusements, lawn tennis, polo, and boat races, and a parade of floats and bands.

dances, clowns, soldiers, sailors, gymnasts, "Kine Tuts," and every kind of macabre imaginable will be on the streets, and masking will be in order from 2 until 6 p. m. Confetti, balloons, whistles, horns, and paper streamers also will be used during the carnival celebration throughout the afternoon and evening.

A Real to Goodness Throce

The Queen's Carnival will start at 7 o'clock in the evening, Austin avenue and Procter street to the post office being decorated lavishly and turned into the queen's court. In front of the post office a large throne will be erected, and on this will sit the queen and her court. A grand band concert, with all the bands playing together, will give entertainment for the first hour, after which the queen and her princesses will be crowned, and presented with diamond souvenirs. The dancing and revelry will follow late into the night.

Plans for the finest fire works display ever attempted in this section of Texas are being made for the birthday party. This feature of the event will be staged at 8:30 o'clock, two floats being stationed out in Lake Sabine, one about a quarter of a mile off the Pleasure Pier, toward the south, and the other towards the north, about half a mile off the end of the pier. In placing the floats in these positions, the fire works will be visible from one end of Port Arthur to the other.

Flaunts in the parade up Procter at 10 a. m., will be spaced 90 feet apart, giving every spectator a chance to get a good view of each float, and a banner giving the thought, expressed in the floats will precede each. The floats which are to be engaged for the celebration will be placed at intervals in the line of march. All traffic will be stopped on Procter street, and the sidewalks roped off so that the crowds viewing the parade will not swarm into the street and block the parade's progress. The route of the parade will be out Procter street from Houston avenue to Stillwell boulevard.

13 Vice Combs in the Parade

First in the line of march will be the flags of all nations, signifying the flow of commerce to and from the Nation's third port. Thirteen vice combs in Port Arthur also will be included in this section of the procession.

Behind the flags of the nations will march Port Arthur's Prize School Band, and then 25 Indians, indicating the first inhabitants of this section.

Cowboys and roughriders will represent the days of the plains before this section of Texas was settled.

The second band in the parade, the Regimental Band of the headquarters and service company, 11th engineers, of the 26th division, Texas National Guard, stationed in Port Arthur, will follow the cowboys.

Several prairie schooners, typifying the pioneer days will then be seen in the line of march.

A single float carrying a dipper dredge, indicating the digging of the canal from the Gulf to the Port Arthur townsite, will follow the prairie schooners. This dredge, it will be recalled, was stopped by several injunctions, gotten out by landowners who objected to the canal cutting across their property. The last of these injunctions was sought when the dredge was within a few hours of completing the canal. When the captain of the dredge boat heard what was up, he told it around that he had a breakdown. All week the dredge didn't turn a wheel, and the injunction was not served because there was nothing to stop, old timers point out. Then one minute after midnight dredge started digging. Throughout Sunday morning, all day Sunday and far into Sunday night the dirt was scooped and lifted out of the way. The deep water in Taylor's bayou was reached before Monday rolled around and the dredge found a legal day to serve the injunction.

The Good Old Days

Early settlers of Port Arthur will follow the dredge in the parade. These "old timers," who remember Port Arthur as a muddy, hot and mosquito infested village of shanties and board walks, and few of either, will appear in the parade riding in carriages and buggies, vehicles of the early days. But 25 years ago automobiles would not have been able to get over the streets, and even buggies, carriages and wagons sometimes stuck.

Then will come the float typifying the entrance of the railroad into Port Arthur. With the railroad came long excursion trains, bringing hundreds of homeseekers, prospectors, and tourists, many of whom purchased property here and are now prosperous and leading citizens in the community. The railroad was financed by Arthur Stillwell and had as its early slogan, "Straight as the Crow Flies."

Kansas City direct to Port Arthur and deep water. Docks were built, a grain elevator constructed, and commerce began pouring through the village of Port Arthur.

Oil was discovered at Spindletop, about this time, and a float with a number of derricks on it, showing the early Spindletop oil field, will follow the railroad float in the parade. With the opening of the Spindletop field thousands of people flocked into this section of Texas. Many settled in Port Arthur and the field was hailed as the greatest in the world at that time.

Coming of the Refinery

After the opening of Spindletop oil field, refineries located in Port Arthur, digging ships for ocean going tankers and constructing docks and facilities for receiving cargoes from Mexican oil fields and exporting petroleum and its products to every corner of the world from Port Arthur terminals. Several floats will be entered in the parade by each of the refineries, depicting the growth of these industries from the small unit stills until the present time when they rank as the largest oil refineries in the world, turning out every conceivable petroleum product and giving Port Arthur an international reputation as the world's largest oil refining center.

Floats built in the form of ships will follow the refineries floats, these ships signifying the world commerce of Port Arthur. Cargo vessels, tankers, grain ships, and even passenger vessels will be represented. They will fly the flags of practically every nation—England, France, Belgium, Italy, Holland, Germany, Spain, Mexico, Japan, Norway, Sweden, Denmark and various other countries sending their vessels to Port Arthur for cargoes. War ships of the United States navy, as well as the naval tankers, will be represented. Only recently four U. S. destroyers called at the Port Arthur terminals of the Texas Company for fuel oil, and during the trouble over the Mexican border, a number of destroyers were stationed in Port Arthur, ready to proceed on an instant's notice to the scene of the Mexican trouble. Sailing vessels will be represented, this type of ship carrying cargoes of lumber, sulphur, meal cake, case oil and grain out of Port Arthur.

City of Churches

Then will come floats depicting the entrance of churches, schools, fraternal organizations, the hospital, business colleges, library, and wireless station and various other institutions.

After serving for many years as houses of worship in Port Arthur, the frame churches built in the early days are giving way before handsome edifices of brick, stone and concrete, ranking among the finest in this section of Texas. On Fifth street, Port Arthur's "Avenue of Churches," the Christian congregation has erected a costly building at the corner of Beaumont avenue and Fifth street. The lands which are to be engaged for the celebration will be placed at intervals in the line of march. All traffic will be stopped on Procter street, and the sidewalks roped off so that the crowds viewing the parade will not swarm into the street and block the parade's progress. The route of the parade will be out Procter street from Houston avenue to Stillwell boulevard.

The Part Gates Played

One of the most beautiful floats in the parade will be arranged depicting the part that John W. Gates played in the development of Port Arthur. This float will carry a life-size portrait of Gates that hangs in the First National bank, and marching on each side of the float will be twenty girls, clad in white and each bearing a palm leaf. Coming to Port Arthur in the early days, John W. Gates spent thousands of dollars promoting the early developments in the city. Many of the institutions which have helped make possible the growth of Port Arthur during the twenty-five years of its history were established by Gates, and this twenty-fifth anniversary celebration is an outgrowth of the Gates Day celebration formerly held here. During the years he spent in Port Arthur, Gates was known to rich and poor alike, and his influence is still felt in civic affairs.

Between now and July 4, Port Arthurans are being urged to write to friends and relatives out of town telling them of the birthday celebration the city is planning, and invite them to come out and help celebrate the quarter-centennial. Numbers of prominent visitors will probably be in the city for the birthday party and those engineering the entertainment hold that the more to entertain the merrier it will be.

WROKMAN FALLS IN ICE TANK; DROWNS

NEW YORK, May 12.—George Zemetes, Brooklyn, an ice puller in the Williamsburg Ice Cream company's plant, was pulling a cake containing a cake of ice from a tank holding four feet of water when he lost his balance and fell, presumably striking his head against the iron sides of the tank. When employees found him he was unconscious at the bottom of the tank. A few minutes later he was pronounced dead from drowning by an ambulance surgeon.

ALCOHOLIC INSANITY INCREASING IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, May 12.—While admissions to state hospitals of persons suffering from acute delirium tremens to alcohol decreased from 283 in 1922 to 226 last year, according to the report of the state hospital commission. There has been a steady increase in alcoholic cases from the low mark of 122 in 1920. Druggists are not a general cause of mental disease, the report states, only twenty-six drug cases being listed among the 7,015 patients admitted last year.

all of them will have floats or representatives in the parade.

Union to Be Represented

Included in this section of the parade will be floats and detachments from the various labor organizations in the city. Port Arthur is known throughout Texas as a strong union city, and among the labor organizations here are the barbers' local, boilermakers, painters, railway employees, laborers and ship workers, cooper, eastern and gulf sailors association, machinists, blacksmiths, electrical workers, longshoremen, refinery workers, marine cooks and stewards, marine firemen, maintenance of way, plumbers, Trades and Labor Council, sheet metal workers, structural steel workers, and carpenters.

A float from Mary Gates hospital will be entered in this section of the parade. This institution, founded by John W. Gates in 1911 in memory of his mother, is the only hospital in the city, although a movement is on foot looking towards building a larger institution. When the hospital was first built, it depended largely for its maintenance on private donations and subscriptions, but in recent years the hospital has been put on a paying basis.

Port Arthur Business College, located here largely through the efforts of John W. Gates, also will be represented in the parade. With the selection of Leonard Power, principal of Franklin school, to head the college as president, it is announced that eventually the institution will be enlarged into a college of commerce, giving a four-year course in commercial and business studies.

The Gates Memorial Library, the gift of DeWitt H. Gates, wife of John W. Gates, to the people of Port Arthur, is not only one of the most beautiful buildings in the city, but the collection of books, numbering several thousand, bring pleasure and help to hundreds of citizens in the city. Located near the high school and business college, students of both of these institutions are among the heaviest patrons of the library. Mrs. E. S. Carter, who is nationally known as a librarian, has been in charge of the Memorial Library for several years past.

Red Cross Advisory Board OK's Present Health Program

Copy of Report Reaches Officials Here and Emphasizes Public Need for Continuation of Local Work

Unanimously endorsing the existing health program of the American Red Cross and laying down a comprehensive plan for the future, the report of the Red Cross advisory committee, composed of nationally-known medical authorities, was made public today by Chairman John Barton Payne.

A copy of the report, which reached Chairman Tom Hughes of the Port Arthur chapter of the Red Cross today, gives an interesting insight particularly into the personnel of the health advisory council, comprising some of the most noted authorities in the country and whose work will be reflected here.

"It serves to emphasize the importance with which the work of the Red Cross is regarded all over the country," Hughes said, "and it is particularly interesting as laying stress on the importance of continuing the work in Port Arthur, threatened with disruption because of being hampered by lack of funds."

Chairman Payne announced that the definite constructive health program recommended by the distinguished committee will be followed. A medical authority of national reputation will be chosen to put into effect the committee's suggestions. The national organization of the Red Cross, with its 3,000 chapters covering the entire country, will be utilized in launching a new campaign that is expected to raise the health standard of the nation.

Report Approved

The report of the advisory committee, composed of the most prominent physicians, surgeons, sanitarians and public health officials of the country, was approved only after months of exhaustive study. It urgently recommends that the Red Cross should not only continue its present health services, but should, through education, serve as the pioneer in demonstrating to the country the need for a constant public health program. "The American Red Cross will find its supreme opportunity for leadership in a great educational campaign for public health," the report states. "We believe that such a program would not only constitute a public service of the first magnitude, but would greatly strengthen the Red Cross for all the other tasks which may be before it, and we urge that it be undertaken at the earliest possible moment."

Chairman Payne, in making the report public today issued the following statement:

"Some difference of opinion existed among the members of the American Red Cross as to character of its peace-time health program. This was shared by members of the medical profession, and at the annual convention of the American Medical Association, held in St. Louis in May, 1922, a resolution was adopted questioning such activities. It therefore seemed wise that the subject should be fully considered by the ablest men in the medical and public health field.

"Accordingly, a health advisory committee was appointed in October, 1922. After giving the subject most earnest and exhaustive consideration, the committee unanimously adopted the report. This provides for the Red Cross a definite constructive program which every member and every chapter may follow with confidence.

"A director of health service will be chosen as soon as a suitable person can be found, and the recommendations of the committee put into effect."

The committee is composed of the following:

Dr. William H. Welch, Baltimore, president of the Maryland State board of health and member of the faculty of Johns Hopkins university; Dr. Herman M. Hing, New York City, health commissioner of the state of New York; Dr. Thomas S. Cullen, Baltimore, member of the faculty of Johns Hopkins university and medical practitioner; Dr. Hugh S. Cumming, Virginia and Washington, surgeon general of the United States public health service; Dr. Livingston Ferrand, Ithaca, N. Y., president of Cornell university; Dr. Franklin H. Martin, Chicago, medical practitioner, director of the American College of Surgeons; Dr. Fred B. Lund, Boston, practicing surgeon and chief surgeon at the Boston City Hospital; Dr. George M. Piersol, Philadelphia, medical practitioner, editor American Journal of Medical Science; Dr. John H. J. Upham, Columbus, Ohio, medical practitioner, member of the house of delegates of the American Medical Association; Prof. C. E. A. Winslow, New Haven, Conn., of Yale university medical school.

The report of this committee points out that the congressional charter of the American Red Cross clearly lays upon it the responsibility of preventing as well as alleviating the suffering created by preventable disease.

"From the standpoint of the public health worker and that of the practicing physician, the committee believes that there is a unique need for a unique opportunity for such a health service as the American Red Cross could render," the report adds. It concludes:

"Non-political and non-partisan, established in the confidence of the people as the greatest practical force for the concrete expression of the ideal of service to humanity, with vast potential membership and an organization which can be developed so as to reach every hamlet, the Red Cross, and the Red Cross alone, can successfully effect the mobilization of popular sentiment which is necessary to make the control of preventable disease a solid reality."

In addition to urging a stronger program of health education, the committee expressed its hearty approval of the present Red Cross services:

(1) The organization of classes in home hygiene and care of the sick; (2) The organization of classes in sanitation; (3) The organization of classes in first aid and life saving; (4) The health phases of the Junior Red Cross program such as (a) the development of personal health habits, (b) participation in a school health program and (c) participation in community health programs; (5) The enrollment of properly qualified nurses under the division of nursing service; (6) The organized development of public health nursing in rural and semi-rural districts, through the activity of the division of public health nursing; (7) Assistance in the development and standardization of the training of public health nurses through loans, scholarships, subsidies and the like. (This work of the Red Cross could with advantage be materially expanded in co-operation with the national organization for public health nursing); (8) The development of machinery for the co-ordination at one central point of the work of various local health agencies; (9) Co-operation on a national scale with such organizations as the national health council for the purpose of furthering the co-ordination of voluntary public health activities.

Port Arthur people now own all the available sites in Griffing's Residential Park—over two hundred in number.

They have pledged themselves to push the improvement program as rapidly as possible.

Most of them are planning to build their homes in Griffing's Residential Park in the near future. Their friends are likewise planning to build.

This assures a new spirit of achievement, a new boom in building and a greater demand for this property—establishing the fact that Griffing's Residential Park is destined to become a home of better homes.

The developers of the addition planned with a broad vision, every restriction has been found a protection to the better class of homes—every improvement has proved a necessity in attracting home builders and in giving service to the homes.

Nowhere can you purchase property with a greater future. Large sites—75 feet and wider, shelled streets, cement sidewalks, sewerage, trees and shrubs.

Nowhere can you find such low prices, $400 to $2,000, terms 5% cash and 2% monthly.

The New Owners

Here are the men and women who stand back of the future developments in Griffing's Residential Park.

When you purchase a site now, you join them in their efforts to build a greater and more beautiful section for Port Arthur homes. Needless to say—prices will advance sharply with the demand. Make your investment at once.

No Fun for Motorists--Roadbuilding Can't Keep Up With Auto Increase

ROADS NOT BAD BUT ARE FEWER

Auto Production Exceeds the Surfacing Program

WITH more automobiles being bought than ever in the history of the industry, touring this summer will lose its appeal to many a motorist.

Not that the roads are bad but that they are few.

There are some 300,000 miles of surfaced roads in the country, and the federal government is planning the construction of some 180,000 miles more in the next 15 or 20 years. In connection with the state building program.

But production of automobiles is going so fast that road building could never hope to catch up with it. For example, last March was the greatest auto production month in the history of the industry. More than 350,000 vehicles were put out that month. But April came along with even a bigger figure—364,000—66 per cent greater than that of April, 1922.

No Let Up in Demand

And there seems to be no let up in the demand for more.

In spite of the progress in highway construction everywhere, it does not come near satisfying the demand for more road room coming from the unusually increased number of automobiles owned. The present program calls for only about 10 per cent increase in road construction annually. Yet the number of automobiles in the country seems to be increasing at the rate of about 25 per cent annually.

The result already is noticed. Crowding on the highways. No joy for the driver, for he must keep his eyes front and his nerves tense. It's like going to a popular bathing resort on a hot day and trying to enjoy yourself.

Air Travel Coming

What will come of this is hard to tell, unless there is a prospect of introducing the next form of travel—by air—in the near future. Civilization is coming to this—when people will rise directly up from the earth and fly about over the heads of pedestrians.

The sooner this is accomplished, the better for all motorists and pedestrians.

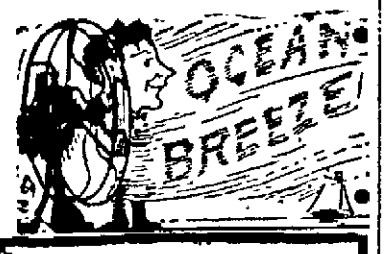

ADVERTISING IN AUTO INDUSTRY

Publicity Big Factor in Selling Production

The motorist, when making selection of any one of the many high-grade motor cars selling at the low prices prevailing these days, should be grateful to the great power of advertising, for the part it has played in assuring him the best value for his money, says Mort May, of Smith May Motor Co., Buick dealers.

"The highly developed automobile of today has been made possible through the operation of two modern forces—namely: Advertising and quantity production. Without these forces, properly coordinated motor cars would be within the reach of only the very wealthy, and the automobile industry could not have made the rapid progress that it has, becoming the third largest industry in the world in the short space of a few years," says May.

Had the power of advertising not been utilized in the automobile industry, comparatively few would know what a motor car is—and very few will risk buying that of which they know nothing. Advertising is a mass seller; it speaks to the crowd. It broadcasts the sales message to the multitudes. Through advertising, the merits of the manufacturer's products are told to thousands and millions simultaneously—in less time and with less effort and at lower cost than it could be told to even a hundred by any other means. Advertising is efficient selling and economical selling. It is the great educator of both the classes and the masses. It is an economic force that has helped develop business and advance civilization."

23 ACRES ARE UNDER ONE ROOF

Ford's Highland Park Plant World's Largest

Covering a total of nearly 300 acres, of which 125 are under roof, the Highland Park plant of the Ford Motor company is the largest individual motor plant in the world.

Here the Ford car is built, the castings are being received from the River Rouge plant and bodies from the various Ford body-building plants. The unit of Highland Park includes the main offices, the Highland Park power plant, the Detroit sales branch, the boys' industrial school and the manufacturing unit.

Under the latter head are included the motor assembly, car assembly motor test, top and upholstery departments, stock rooms, drop forge plant, glass factory and others.

Today these plants present the scene of the greatest activity in the history of the Ford Motor company, as every energy is being directed to reaching the 6,000 cars a day schedule set by the manufacturing department.

The manufacture of 6,000 separate Ford units daily presents staggering production figures and calls for the highest degree of accuracy in each manufacturing operation. It means that in the motor assembly department, 6,000 motor blocks are handled, 24,000 connecting rods, 48,000 valves and numerous mechanical materials, the installation of 18,000 main motor bearings, with other production figures in the same ratio and to a uniformly high standard of quality.

Each of these parts is subjected to exacting balance and micrometer tests and as production at the Highland park increases it is necessarily accompanied with an increase in the accuracy with which each individual part is made in order that the various assembly operations may progress smoothly and without interruption.

Production at the plant has not been increased by more work but by increasing man power to the utmost of the mechanical equipment capacity and at the present time 60,000 men are employed at the plant, working in eight-hour shifts six days a week on a twenty-four hour day basis.

In the huge drop-forge plant where 6,000 front axles, 6,000 crank shafts and other drop forge parts are made, there has been added equipment and greater man power is being used to produce the necessary parts and at the same time there has been an increased quality marking every phase of Ford construction.

To guard against the possibility of outside manufacturer failing in this huge production schedule the glass plant, the fabric plant and other allied plants at the Highland Park group are all working on a twenty-four hour schedule.

In the glass factory there is a never-ending flow of molten glass from the furnace mouth at which it is rolled out and slipped along in a 402-foot ribbon to the cutting end where it is cut into lengths and sent to the polishing machines.

In the plant the work on top material goes on unceasingly and tops and upholstery are cut and sewed by hand into proper parts.

Ford motors undergo the most exacting tests. No human agency is permitted to pass upon the final fitness of the individual motor. Each is operated in test by electricity and under the supervision of an expert, while in a room separate and apart from this, the delicate electrical dynamometer records the test to the utmost fineness, and it is upon the verdict of this instrument that each motor receives its final stamp of approval.

From all departments the various finished parts emerge upon endless conveyors and are carried to the assembly lines and the movement is so synchronized that each unit arrives at the proper point in exact ratio to the manufacturing need.

These parts are assembled by expert workmen performing his specific operation as the motors are carried along on a constantly moving conveyor until they come out completely at the end and in the same manner the motors come to the final assembly line, where cars and trucks are completed. There they are mounted on the chassis and started so that experts may pass upon the ignition action and other mechanical operations as they are conveyed along the line to be turned out complete and leave the final station under their own power.

Though 1922 set up a production record of 1,351,333 the present year under the schedule now on will increase this by several hundred thousand and indications are that the production for the year will pass the million and one-half mark in cars and trucks.

FOR STANDARDIZATION

A special committee of the American Automobile association has been formed to work for the standardization and simplification of automotive parts. It will co-operate with the division of simplified practice of the department of commerce, with the chief purpose of making repairs easy for the motorist. The Society of American Automotive Engineers, also has long been working toward this end.

An Automobile in which the engine has been thoroughly overhauled should be treated the same as a new motor for the first 1,000 miles of service.

ESSENTIALS IN VALVE TIMING

Size of Valves, Engine Speed Important Factors

The subject of valve timing is one of which the engineers have not thoroughly agreed, as there are several factors which determine the amount of lead to be given to the valves. The most important of these are the size of the valves, their location, and the average speed of the engine.

Theoretically, each cycle of the four-cylinder engine begins and ends at the top or bottom dead center of piston travel. Likewise the valves should open and close at the beginning and end of the cycle. In actual practice, however, it has been found necessary to vary the valve timing somewhat from the theoretical correctness owing to the inertia of the masses that tends to resist a change of state, whether that state be rest or movement. If a valve opens or closes before the dead center of piston travel, that distance is known as lead. If it opens or closes after dead center, it is known as lag. These distances are measured in angular movement of the crankshaft. If a valve is given a fifteen degrees lag it means that the crankshaft is fifteen degrees past dead center before the valve begins to function.

As the volume of the exhaust gases is much greater than the volume of the gasoline vapor before ignition, it has been found an advantage to give the exhaust valves a certain amount of lead on opening in order to facilitate the removal of the gases. Though this may waste some of the force of the explosion, it permits a greater freedom of the piston in commencing the exhaust stroke. For the same reason, the exhaust valves are also given a certain amount of lag on closing. When the piston rises on the exhaust stroke, the exhaust gases cannot pass out of the cylinder as quickly as the piston travels, and therefore are slightly compressed. gases would still remain in the cylinder at the beginning of the intake stroke. This would not only contaminate the incoming gas, but would also retard the entrance of the fresh charge.—Automobile Digest.

WEALTH OF AUTOS STOLEN IN ONE YEAR

More automobiles were stolen in the United States during 1922 than all the cars registered in most of the nations of Europe, according to Firestone statisticians who also value this huge number of pilferings at about $100,000,000.

It has also been figured out that the present estimated value of motor vehicles in this country approximates $9,000,000,000.

SPLIT RIM REMOVER

Get a broken truss rod—from an auto junk shop—one with the turnbuckle still in good condition, cut to the diameter of your tires, bend over on the ends to form hook, and you will have a simple form of rim remover.

BUMPER FOR GARAGE

A rounded plank supported from the rear wall of the garage by two halves of an old automobile spring makes a useful bumper. The spring can be obtained at any auto junk shop, where it may be cut, while bolting the halves to the garage wall is an easy matter. It prevents accidents.

Enclosed cars threaten to make touring models obsolete.

Leads Other Cars in Frisco, Says Inman

The Philip Inman & Co., 625 Procter street, has just received a report from San Francisco regarding auto sales in that territory. According to this statement, the big sellers run as follows during March: Chevrolet 442, Ford 409, Buick 248, Studebaker 226.

And Mr. Inman said, "In San Francisco Chevrolet dealers are trying hard to furnish everyone who walks with a motor car. But they have nothing on us. If you will look over the number of cars on the streets of Port Arthur you will note by the many Chevrolets that we are also trying to furnish everyone who walks with a motor car. Our hardest job at present is to supply the demand. Early orders mean early deliveries," he said.

MAIN STREET

Every city has a Main Street. It may be called Broadway of Walnut, or Canal or Park, but it is Main Street.

Every merchant who values his good name, who increases his investment, who puts his business on trial every day before the public is on Main Street. He has nothing to lose and everything to gain by winning the friendship of his community.

There are automobile dealers with Main Street places just as there are Main Street dry goods, hardware and clothing stores. They deal fairly with their customers because they know that the fairer they deal with the public the safer and more certain is their stay on Main Street.

How will you know the Main Street dealer?

Service 'Flat Rate' Improves Quality, Says Baker

What is meant by "flat rate service?" Much discussion on this subject is heard among motor car owners, but it is evident, from the nature of these conversations, that many have only a vague idea of its real significance. As a matter of fact, flat rate service, as applied by the leading automobile dealers, is not definable in a single sentence.

"In the first place," according to E. P. Baker, local dealer for Dodge Brothers, "it means that a careful study was made of the thousands of operations that might enter into the repairing of a motor car. On the basis of these time-studies, reasonable time allowances for every conceivable service job were established, and the mechanic is required to complete each job within the allotted time."

"When an owner brings his car to the service station for repairs," says Baker, "we are able to quote him a positive figure for the work to be done. We are also enabled to give him a definite delivery promise, with the knowledge that the car will come out of the shop on time. Thus, the owner has no possible ground for complaint, either as to price or delivery. In short, flat rate service means that the service station is able to tell the owner exactly how long it will take to repair his car and the price of such repairs. It permits the selling of service on a business-like basis."

"But there is an element of even greater importance to the car owner. The mechanic is paid by the job and contrives to get it finished on time, that he may start a new job. Naturally he is anxious to make as much money as possible, and such a plan eliminates loafing. A feature of this system is the quality that requires each mechanic to make good without additional pay, any of his work that is returned because of inferior workmanship. This precludes any possibility of carelessness on the part of the mechanic."

"We have found positively," concludes Mr. Baker, "that this method not only reduces the charges to our car owners, but it improves the quality of our service work. It is the nearest thing to perfection that I have ever seen in the line of service efficiency."

Auto Fuel From Waste Paper Is Science Scheme

BY NEA Service

LONDON, May 12.—Waste paper may save the motorists of the world against high fuel prices.

This possibility is offered through the discovery of a microbe, by the action of which it is said one ton of waste paper can be made to yield 20 gallons of alcohol suitable as motor fuel. The discoverers are two British chemists, H. Langwell and H. Lloyd Hind.

The microbe, say its captors, is a rod-shaped bacillus which can develop so much heat in its growth that other germs, which might interfere with the alcoholic fermentation, are automatically killed. Apart from yielding the motor alcohol, the chemists say, this germ is capable of developing some 15,000 cubic feet of gas, suitable for internal combustion engines, from one ton of waste paper.

Thanks to the bacterium in this country, even more alcohol can be obtained through these bacilli. For, say Langwell and Hind, it is found abundantly in the waste hops left over from the brewing process.

Of course, such motor fuel from this source is out of the question in the United States.

BUICKS A HIT WITH LEAGUERS

Two Lineups Challenge to World, Says May

"Assume that the major league baseball players, all Buick owners, could be gathered together on one team. What a lineup. Truly an all-star aggregation. Nothing left to be desired in batting, fielding, base-running, pitching or reserve strength. And in direction also. Not only are Managers Tim Lincecum of the Cleveland Indians and Miller Huggins of the New York Yankees Buick owners, but also are Managers Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics and Wilbert Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers."

Says Matt May, of the Smith-May Motor Co., Buick dealer:

"Eight of these players are .300 hitters, in fact, the batting average of the lineup exceeds .300, while the team fielding average is better than .970. No pennant winner of the past has entered the series with three greater pitchers than Rivers, Grooms and Jones. These men selected Buicks to drive for the same reasons that governed Jimmy Murphy, champion of the race tracks, Gene Sarazen, National golf champion and other celebrities who have purchased Buicks. It is a significant thing that so many people, whose means en-

- able them to buy as fancy dictates, should choose Buick cars. Thus the world over Buicks are found in the hands of such men as:

Representative of the appraisal committee to come down from Kansas City and testify," he said.

Low Gets Information

F. Y. Low, manager of the gas company, said he expects the case to be called in federal court not later than Wednesday. Information that Judge Estes had ordered the admiralty dock at opened Monday resulting in postponement of the injunction suit hearing, reached him Saturday, he said.

"Of course the April gas bills will not be mailed out until the case is finally disposed of in federal court, but the regular 10 per cent discount will be allowed consumers paying the bills within 10 days after they are released by the company," Low said. "When the case was set for hearing Monday, it was expected that a decision would be handed down by Judge Estes within the next day or two, giving us a chance to get the bills out around May 15, but now it is impossible to say when the bills will be mailed," he said.

Amended Petition

An amended petition to the original suit of the gas company, covering 30 typewritten pages, was filed in federal court Saturday by the company. It was heard last night. This amended petition seeks to restrain the city from prosecuting its injunction suit filed by the city against the gas company in 58th district court, which is set for final hearing before Judge George C. O'Brien, in the 58th, next Friday, May 18.

It is alleged by the gas company in this amended petition that the city did not inform the district court that a case was pending in federal court when application was made for an injunction against the gas company, seeking to restrain the company from carrying out its announced intention of collection a $2.70 rate while the city's ordinance set a $2.25 rate.

"Should the gas company's injunction petition in federal court not be given a hearing before May 18, the city will prosecute the injunction suit filed in the 58th district court against the gas company," Wistner said last night.

The filing of the city's petition for an injunction against the gas company collecting the $2.70 rate, followed by Judge O'Brien issuing a temporary restraining order against the company, and setting May 18 as the date for the final hearing of the suit, brought about an effort on the part of the gas company to have the case transferred from the 58th district court to the 60th district court in order that a speedy hearing and settlement could be reached, according to Low.

M. E. Church, South, Attendance Today to Be Record: Lomax

Indications are that Mother's Day attendance at the Sunday school services of the First Methodist church, South, will break all previous records in the history of the church. G. K. Lomax, superintendent of the Sunday school, said Saturday. The special appeal of the day will swell the attendance, Lomax pointed out, and said record breaking crowds have attended the Sunday school services in the church for the past three Sundays.

Using all three floors of the church building under construction at Nashville avenue and Fifth street, it has been necessary to make special allotments of class room spaces in order to accommodate the increased Sunday to accommodate the increased said.

WOMAN HEAVES BOOZE AT COWEN

Officer Ducks, Saves Evidence for Arrest

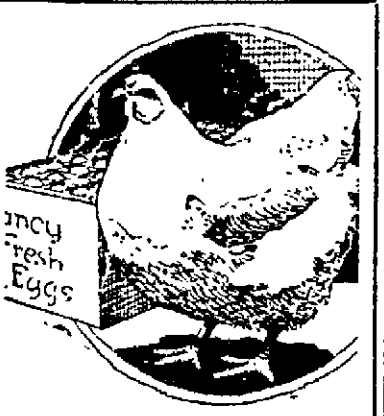

All bottles containing liquor do not smash to pieces when they are hurled through the air, as was demonstrated Friday evening when Detective Bos Cowen raided a house in the 599 block on West Eighth and placed a woman under arrest on charges of having whiskey in her possession in violation of the law.

The woman grew irate, according to Cowen, when the officer entered the place, and immediately produced the liquor, only to swing her arms rapidly through the air and send the bottles whirling toward the detective.

The ducked.

The woman was placed under arrest, after the usual procedure, and later it was discovered, according to Cowen, that "there was enough evidence to bring to the court, so the woman will be brought before the United States commissioner Tuesday for preliminary hearing."

"Yes," concluded Bos, "she's out on bond now,—and say, she swung those bottles close to my head."

Capt. Hall Takes Charge of Port Arthur Work

Featuring a free employment agency and relief station for the destitute of the city, the Veterans of America have established headquarters in Port Arthur at 325 Fort Worth avenue, with Capt. J. C. Hall, formerly of Houston, in charge of the station and work of the organization.

"From the first day we opened in Port Arthur a number of calls for help have been made upon us," Captain Hall said in reviewing the opening of the Port Arthur station. "Of course we have been handicapped in meeting the demands made upon us as we were busy organizing and getting set up in our new quarters," he said.

A special series of meetings Wednesday are being planned in connection with high officials in the Veterans of America organization, including Major Dowell and wife, Captain Matthews and Mrs. L. Hunter, who will visit Port Arthur that day, Captain Hall said.

"Until we get the organization here in running order, we are confining our efforts to conducting religious meetings on the streets, maintaining a reading and rest room at our headquarters, and rendering all the assistance possible to the needy," Captain Hall said.

With Captain Hall in the work in Port Arthur are Captain Bertha E. Dean, Captain Maud Hayes and Lieutenant Katie Hall.

Down With Jazz—Give Children Real Music is Demand of the Club Women

By NEA Service

ATLANTA, Ga., May 10.—A movement to annihilate "jazz" in the United States is a headline on the program of the biennial council of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, attended here by delegates from 40,000 clubs numbering 2,000,000 members.

"Jazz" declare prominent southern club women who are warring against it, "is having a bad effect on our girls and on society in general. It must go, and concerted action by the women's clubs of America will wipe it out of existence in short order."

Mrs. B. M. Boykin, president of the Atlanta Women's club; Mrs. Norman C. Sharpe, chairman of the state committee on citizenship; and Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, vice president of the Atlanta Music Festival association and a leader in women's club activity, are taking the lead in the crusade.

They will ask the biennial council to denounce "jazz" in the strongest terms, and will appeal to the mothers of the country to refrain on it and draw their daughters away from it. Here in Georgia the club women plan further steps.

According to Mrs. Boykin, the club women of the state will request the legislature at its summer session to put a prohibitive license tax on bands and orchestras furnishing "jazz" at dances and other social functions.

"Let them furnish real music for our young folk," says Mrs. Boykin, "but no jazz."

MORE 'VETS' TO GET INSURANCE

Bureau Representative to be at Red Cross 3 Days

Another chance for Port Arthur ex-service men to re-instate their government insurance will be available next Thursday, Friday and Saturday when two representatives of the Veterans' Bureau sub-district office at Houston, will be in this city, working at the Red Cross hut, Fifth street and Dallas avenue.

When government insurance men visited here recently, $47,000 worth of government insurance was re-instated by ex-service men in the city during a single day. Red Cross officials report. This fact was largely instrumental in another visit of the insurance experts being planned for Port Arthur, they said.

Special efforts are being made by the Red Cross to reach all ex-service men and arrange appointments for them after working hours and on Saturday afternoon while the men from Houston are in the city, chapter officials said Saturday. The main room of the hut will be reserved for the insurance work on the three days this week.

Disabled ex-service men will be assisted by the Red Cross in securing compensation, and if these men desire to continue their insurance, the insurance premiums can be paid from the compensations received, it is pointed out. It is estimated by the Red Cross that there are over 100 ex-service men here who should take up the insurance, and the officials in the organization urge that they take advantage of the special opportunities open to them Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

2 Local Squads in Port Neches to Play

Port Neches' ball nine will have its hands full today when the Waupus Cats and the Heights from Port Arthur invade their field for a row of games this afternoon.

The opening number will be sang from the hymnbook at 1:30 o'clock when the Waupus Cats take the field, and they will be followed shortly afterward by the Heights, who have a game scheduled for 3:30 p. m. with the same Port Neches crew.

The Cats are taking with them the following players: C. DeLord, p.; J. Childress, 1b; Pitterson, 2b; Pullin, c.; O. DeLord, ss; King, 3b; L. Childress, rf; Johnson, cf; Robertson, lf.

Huston Opens Small Auto Repair Shop

Will Port Arthur have the distinction of possessing the smallest automobile repair shop in Texas? Roy Huston, driver of racing cars, and for the past year connected with the Smith-May company, is setting up in the automobile repair business in the rear of 305 Augusta avenue in what he claims is the smallest establishment of its kind he ever saw.

"There will be just room enough for myself, another automobile mechanic, and two or three cars in the garage at one time," Huston said. They will specialize in Buick jobs, Huston said.

Next Sunday Huston will drive a Mads Special on the East Texas speedway, several miles north of Port Arthur on the Port Arthur-Beaumont highway. He has been driving racing cars on a Houston speedway for several months past.

MEXICO CITY, May 12.—American Commissioners Warren and Payne, who were appointed by President Harding to conduct negotiations with the Mexican government leading toward possible recognition, were formally presented to President Obregon today. For more than an hour they were closeted with him and the Mexican commissioners at the national palace.

After they had left, President Obregon received the newspapermen and stated that he believed honest action to bring about amicable relations could be expected.

Country Club Plans to Bring Revival of Boating Pastime

Dredging of Slip From End of Atlantic Canal to Give Access to Lake, Sabine Neches and Ship Channel

Pleasure craft, sailing boats, motor boats and even skiffs withdrawn from Lake Sabine years ago because there was no place for them to safely lie at anchor, will return to Sabine waters before this summer wanes, according to members of the Country club who have plans underway for constructing a slip on the club's property, about 150 yards from the clubhouse.

Work Out Project
It is proposed to dredge a slip leading from the end of the barge canal being dredged from the Neches river by the Atlantic Refining company, into the Country club property, the cost of the project not to exceed $500. George T. Craig, who, with F. P. Dodge and V. B. Peveto was appointed to work out the project for the Country club, said today.

"This appears to be a very desirable proposition, as sail boats, motor boats and even skiffs could be safely taken care of in the slip," Craig said.

"The Country club grounds are located but a short distance from the mouth of the Neches river, which has an outlet into Lake Sabine, the ship canal to Orange, thence to the inter-coastal canal and Old River cove, where the Sabine enters Lake Sabine," Craig pointed out.

Old River Cove
"Old River cove has long been known not only as an excellent bathing beach, but one of the best fishing places around here. Members of the Country club owning pleasure boats could drive to the club property in the automobiles, leave the cars there and within a few minutes be cruising out for fishing, bathing or boating places," Craig said.

While at the present time only a few members of the Country club own pleasure craft, the number would be greatly increased if a safe harbor were provided, Craig said. He estimated that at least 50 or 75 pleasure boats would eventually make use of the slip at the Country club. The Atlantic company's canal is about thirty feet wide and eight feet deep and the end of it is a very short distance from the Country club property.

Trap Shooting Matches

Considerable interest in trap shooting among the Country club members, following the construction of a gun club trap, is reported by Craig. A series of shooting matches with Beaumont teams is planned by the Port Arthur shooters for the very near future, he said.

Services of a professional golfer, Mr. Kelly, are available at the Country club now, and not only new members, but old ones as well, are developing rapidly, according to Craig. It is confidently expected, he said, that by next year the club, in neighboring cities will have to look to their laurels before the Port Arthur golfers, a number of whom are rounding into championship form on the Country club links.

YOU AND I

MOTHER-IN-LAW

Nothing is impossible. An Englishman testifying in the county court at Marleybone, boasts that he has been living on his mother-in-law's wages.

SHERLOCK

Sherlock Holmes was a real person—Dr. Joseph Bell, a distinguished Scottish surgeon who died some years ago, according to friends of Conan Doyle.

Doyle says he still gets letters to be forwarded to Sherlock. Many have written, regretting that he has the morphia habit and recommending various cures. A musician, reading of Sherlock's musical bent, sent him a fine old violin. Thousands believe that Holmes is real, that he solved the fiction crimes that made Conan Doyle famous. Street and Smith, publishers, used to get baskets of mail addressed to Nick Carter.

Some people are very glib. The politicians know.

HOME

One and a half million babies born this year in our country. The original infant industry still is the largest.

A million couples are married each year in America. There are a million new homes annually. But death is the great enemy of the modern dweller. We are like flies, swarming by the millions. Before we realize what it is all about, death beckons us to make way for the newcomers. Life is a journey, too short to be taken too seriously. The destination will be more satisfactory to some.

LOCOMOTIVES

Fifty thousand railroad trains are moving constantly these days in the United States. Fifty thousand locomotives—and another 10,000 chronically laid up for repairs.

A car shortage probably will become acute this fall when crops move to market. These periodical car shortages are not primarily due to lack of enough cars, but rather because railroad terminals and motive power (locomotives) are inadequate. Important news, that the Baldwin people this year will build 50 miles of locomotives.

LIVER

Book critics need liver pills, an eastern publisher wrathfully foams. We're not so sure about the critics, but on the average a lot of the troubles of most of us are due to liver trouble. The human intellect may be in the brain, but the liver has a lot to do with whether our minds are alert or drowsy.

Brilliant thinking, to consider, is the result of proper functioning of bodily organs, the liver as much as the endocrine glands. Under normal condition, the tendency of over-eating is to put the liver to sleep and baffle the mind. The best thinking is done on an empty stomach.

When you want your wits about you, eat lightly.

DIVORCE

Benavente, famous Spanish writer, adds a fresh comment about divorce: "It leaves no chance for repentance if one has been foolish. Separation, sometimes, maybe. But not divorce."

Most couples who think they want a divorce really need only a vacation from each other. After separation for a few weeks or months, the voice of reason not look so inviting. We repent at a distance—unless divorce has "made it too late."

Tom Sims Says

TOM SIMS SAYS Beds are simple little devices, easy to get into, but hard as everything to get out of.

Chairs are furniture with chewing gum stuck underneath.

A telephone is a bell which a girl rings so somebody can tell you he has the wrong number.

Sinks are basins in which dirty dishes are left until morning.

Groceries are edibles bought on credit and paid for pay day if you have any money left.

Shades are rolls pulled down by all skinny people while dressing.

Wall paper is stuff put on new buildings, robbing landlords after many heated arguments.

Tables are furniture wives make you keep your feet off of.

Mops are articles used in scrubbing and in describing women's hair before they come to it.

Dessert is an edible which comes and goes with company.

A drink of water is a cup or glass of liquid cried for by kids just after you get in bed.

Noise is a racket made by everybody while you are phoning.

Shelves are long wooden strips where contented roaches live.

Electric lights are little bulbs which people turn on while you are trying to sleep.

Grand yards are plots of ground where flowers which have a grudge against all vegetation.

Refrigerators are cold places where vegetables are kept and cool off just before they are eaten.

IMAGINARY ILLS

A nerve specialist tells us, a woman came to him on the verge of collapse, and it developed that what she really wanted was advice about investing her money. Doe gave the advice, collected his fee. The patient went her way—relaxed, contented, cured.

A queer case? Not unusual, according to the nerve specialist. We're all more or less in an unbalanced nervous condition as a result of the war, and the specialists have come to expect anything.

Nerve specialists report a big increase in cases of pretended illness, technically known as hypochondria. A hypochondriac is a person with morbid anxiety about his or her health.

Frequently a hypochondriac's mental distress actually produces counterfeit symptoms of the imagined maladies.

The hypochondriac flits from malady to malady. One day, he imagines he has cancer of the stomach. Next day, a fear that Bright's disease is developing. And so on, leading the doctor a merry chase, he meantime feeding the patient bread of ill.

A generation ago the "hypo" was considered a mental case, and even doctors smiled a trifle at him—when they weren't cursing behind his back.

Now it is recognized that an unbalance of the body's endocrine glands is the most common cause of hypochondria. If the thyroid or adrenal or pituitary glands are too active or not active enough, the victim often becomes neuroathetic, imagining all kinds of symptoms, fear flitting from disease to disease.

In such condition, the "hypo" is sincere in the belief that all the maladies in the universe are clutching him.

There's still another type of hypochondria—where the patient fakes illness and knows it. The motive here is to attract sympathy. The well person is taken for granted without fussing. The ill person gets the attention. So the hypochondriac, craving affection and attention pretends to be ill.

We all have this craving for sympathy and care, though few of us are willing to "enjoy bad health" to get it.

As for the glandular-neuroathetic type of "hypo," it's much more agonizing to imagine you're ill than really to be ill, especially in the clutches of the mysterious maladies that originate in the endocrine glands or the imagination, and which as yet are only vaguely understood by the medical profession.

YOUR CAREER

If you weren't born to be a super-man, you'll never be one. Every human being is born into the world with the potential ability to develop just so far but no farther.

This theory, about any individual's limitations, is advanced by Dr. H. H. Goddard, psychiatrist at Ohio State University.

It sounds reasonable, since we all know that we cannot build a skyscraper out of one load of bricks. Some of us are more gifted than others. Also, we lack certain powers that nothing on earth can possibly develop.

Max Rubner years ago penned a similar idea: "For every pound of weight of his body at maturity, the average man produces and consumes 362,000 calories of energy before he dies. Death comes when he has consumed that amount. Nothing that he can possibly do will make his body produce during adult life more energy than the 362,000 calories; and nothing can possibly prevent his death when this amount of energy is produced."

Accepting Rubner's theory, you can overwork or dissipate so that you will use up your potential energy sooner than if you live slowly and sensibly. That's why loggers outlive the hardworkers who are like furnaces that burn with the draft open and so empty the coal bin quickly.

Rubner's theory was that our potential physical strength is limited, that it is impossible to increase it past a certain point. Goddard has a similar idea about natural abilities.

However, no one should be discouraged by these theories. Each of us has enough potential strength and ability to make reasonably successful—if we develop them.

No man, not even an athlete, ever develops his powers fully. No matter what record a man makes, he has within him the power to beat that record. Occasionally we think we have exerted ourselves "to the last ounce of strength," but that's imaginary.

Look at your work, as you have done it. Maybe there are others who could do it better. But you also can improve it.

Just because we can't all finish first in the race is no reason why we shouldn't try to get second place.

And the ultimate result? The runner who finishes first developed his power to finish first by constantly struggling and training until he got out of second place.

Yes, we are limited and know it without professors telling us, but none of us is as limited as he thinks he is.

MAY COME AGAIN

Dunbar is a town in West Virginia. Blue laws of ultra-mine hue are being enforced. Two sacrilegious individuals indulged in a game of dominoes. This aroused the ire of the mayor of Dunbar and he issued a proclamation that the playing of dominoes would not be permitted in future under penalty of arrest and imprisonment. Why worry? They burned witches in the good old days and they may burn 'em again.

A PREDICTION

There are 450,000 union coal miners in the United States. This is their demand: Right of all workers to organize and bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing. They insist that collective bargaining and union recognition go hand in hand and that there can be no recognition of the principle of collective bargaining without a corresponding recognition of the right of the workers to organize trade unions. This is a hint. The immigration law of today will usher in the new order of industrial civilization demanded by the union mine workers. E. H. Gary of the House of Steel was the first to recognize this fact.

American mills imported raw silk during 1922 having a value of $366,000,000 and the quantity, 51,000,000 pounds, exceeded all previous importations. Silk must be for the masses, cotton for the masses, but the masses as well as the classes dearly like to wear silk garments.

American starch manufacturers must have been busy in 1922. They established a new high record by exporting 363,000,000 pounds of starch. Foreigners must have the coin to pay for their purchases.

Before prohibition became effective those engaged in the production of wine grapes received $15 per ton for the grapes. Last year the average price was $100 a ton and last year 94,000,000 pounds of raisins were shipped from California to foreign nations.

WHAT'S GOING ON IN THE WORLD

THE WEEK'S CHIEF EVENTS BRIEFLY TOLD

Reparations—Turkey—Pan-America—Prohibition

By CHARLES F. STEWART

Germany has offered France 20 billions of gold marks.

This is on condition that France quits the Ruhr.

Thirty billions in marks is about 7-1/2 billions in dollars. It's a bit less than one-third the allies original claim.

Certain payments in goods are offered, too, but the money's the main thing.

To pay the 20 billions Germany proposes to take eight years.

She aims to raise the money by issuing bonds, for sale abroad.

If France wants more, Germany suggests a board, consisting of financiers from the leading countries, to decide how much she can pay. This was Secretary of State Hughes' plan.

Germany recalls that France wants security against future attack. She offers it, by agreeing to arbitrate disputes.

What France Wants

France turns down the German offer.

She says it isn't enough. She demands what she calls an "appropriate sum."

She intends to decide for herself what's "appropriate," not leave it to an international board.

Before she'll talk at all she insists on abandonment of Germany's "passive resistance" in the Ruhr.

But the German proposal may yet serve as basis for negotiations.

Thousands of Years

Foreign observers of the Franco-German situation continue gloomy.

Maj. Gen. Allen, who commanded the American troops at Coblenz, says there's been trouble in the Ruhr for 2,000 years; probably will be for 2,000 more.

He thinks maybe France has lost as much by the Ruhr occupation already as the total amount of her original claim against Germany.

He adds that nobody can tell how long the occupation will last, regardless of settlement talk.

Ready to Fight

Negotiations at Lausanne between Turkey and the powers threaten to break up in a row. The dispute is over foreigners' rights in Turkish courts.

France especially fears trouble with the Turks. She's sending reinforcements to her troops in Syria. This particular difficulty relates in part to concessions the Turkish government offers to take away from French interests to give them to the American syndicate which Admiral Chester leads.

New British Premier

Premier Bonar Law of England, pretty sick, has gone on an ocean cruise.

Many politicians think he'll resign only to resign.

But this won't mean the Conservative retirement in favor of a Labor cabinet. It would, if Bonar Law had to resign on account of a majority against him in parliament; resignation on account of bad health is different.

Bonar Law simply will turn over his hat on the floor.

his job to another conservative.

Probably it will be Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the exchequer, or secretary of the treasury, as he's called in the United States. Baldwin is very popular because, as chancellor, he has reduced taxes.

Peace Plan Fails

The Pan-American Conference in Chile had to give up its effort for an armament limitation agreement.

The scheme fell so flat that the Latin American members of the committee wouldn't even report. The North American members had to do so alone, in general terms deploring war but saying nothing definite.

South American newspapers say the stumbling block was the encouragement recently given by the United States to Brazil to strengthen her navy.

Wets and Driss

The United States Supreme Court has held that foreign ships mustn't bring intoxicants within the American three-mile limit, even locked up for their own use.

France has protested. Other European governments are expected to do so. They talk of reprisals, too. President Harding is quoted in some newspapers as saying the law will be enforced "with consideration for other nations."

The supreme court also holds that American ships may carry intoxicants outside the three-mile limit. Driss are expected to ask congress to change the law so they can't.

The New York legislature has knocked out the state law supporting the Volstead act.

Flight Records Broken

Lieut. Charles G. Kelley and John A. MacReady, United States aviators, broke flying records in spectacular style by making the trip from Hempstead, L. I., near New York City, to San Diego in a single hop.

The distance is estimated at between 2,700 and 2,800 miles.

Kelley and MacReady flew it, in the monoplane T-2, in 26 hours 50 minutes and 28.25 seconds.

CHURCH FLOOR CRASH

SERIOUSLY HURTS 25

WARREN, O., May 12.—Twenty-five persons were hurt, three seriously, when the floor of the Methodist church at Hartgrove, 25 miles northwest of here, caved in during high school commencement exercises.

About 100 persons dropped into the basement when the floor gave way.

MAN 'STEALING GUN' IS NOT GUILTY, VERDICT

SPIRITUALISM IS DEATH TO THREE

Father Poisons Son and Self to Join Wife

MCOOK, Nev., May 12.—A grim story has come from Beverly, a village of this county, where one murder and two suicides have resulted in belief in the facts of a spiritualistic cult. Citizens of the village are wondering who will be the next to die a violent death—the result in the cult's teachings.

Influenced by these teachings, Herman Light, 7, was given poison by his father, who after a 14-day struggle of the poison himself and died a few hours after the death of the little boy.

Funeral Signs Shot

As the funeral cortege of the father and son was passing the house of John Sullivan, another believer Sullivan blew his brains out with a shotgun.

The principal tenet of the cult is a promised reunion of earth friends after death. Some months ago Mrs. Herman Light died, leaving her son and husband. Light was a wealthy farmer. The son died deeply for his mother.

"Where is mamma?" he asked "Mamma's in another world."

Light, where we will soon be with her again," Light told his boy upon these occasions.

For several years Light had been interested in the cult, which has many disciples in Beverly. After the death of his wife he spent more time than usual in the study of his after death. At the same time he grew more and more morose and dependent.

Longed for "Beyond"

One day last week the servant and found him and the boy on the floor, both in convulsions. An hour afterward the boy died. Two hours later the father died.

The servant told the authorities

MEDIUM BROWN HAIR, best of all after a Golden Glint Shampoo, only.

Light had given the boy something to drink and then drank from the same bottle.

John Sullivan was Light's closest friend. They often discussed the "beyond" and the teachings of modern spiritualists.

Sullivan was strangely affected by Light's death. For an entire day he shut himself up and refused to see any one. Afterward he was extremely despondent. He was married and had a wife and six children.

At the house bearing the bodies of the two Lights passed the Sullivan home a gunshot rang out. The family ran upstairs and found Sullivan was dead. A note lay on the table. It told of longing to join his "friend Light in the Great Beyond, where all is peaceful and happy."

TO WIPE OUT TRIO DEFICIT

Affair Will Be One of Most Elaborate Given Here

Coming events always cast their shadows before them and the Hortense Smith recital on the evening of Thursday, May 24, at Franklin auditorium at 8:15 o'clock is an event which augurs well to be one of the most important affairs which close societies season until after the summer vacation.

Port Arthur claims Miss Smith as her own, and the recital in which the Civitan Club presents Miss Smith, in order to raise enough funds to wipe out the deficit caused by the bringing of the Tolleson Trio here last fall, will be one of interest not only to musicians but to society in general.

On Chautauqua Circuit
Miss Smith is prominent in music and club circles here, and her ability as a musician is well known to a host of Port Arthurians. She is a regular of much of the Chautauqua circuit of remarkable talent. Prior to coming to Port Arthur, Miss Smith was prominent on chautauqua circuits as a vocalist and reader.

The recital will be given in costume, and will be one of the most elaborate musical entertainments ever given in Port Arthur. Assisting Miss Smith will be Mrs. Joe S. Park, pianist, and Mrs. Neal DeRader, violinist. During intermission Mrs. Rader will play a violin selection.

Backed by Civitans
Port Arthur women prominent in society will get as patronesses for the recital. Harry H. Silber, secretary of the Civitan Club, who is directing the affair, has placed tickets for the concert on sale at Keith Shoe company. There will be no reserved seats, Mr. Silber announced.

Mrs. S. E. Carter Makes Plea For Books For City Library

Library Celebration by Department Club First of Its Kind Ever to Be Held in Port Arthur

Books! Have clubwomen of Port Arthur look in their homes that they have read?

This is the question being asked Port Arthur club women by Mrs. E. S. Carter, librarian of Memorial Library, who has requested that each club woman bring a book for the library to the one o'clock luncheon of the Department club on Monday afternoon at the First M. E. church, Stillwell and Lake Shore drive.

Progress and Co-Operation
The club activities of Port Arthur stand for civic progress and co-operation. Mrs. Carter said in appealing to the club women. "The stand for education, culture and literature. The annual Literary Day which is a feature added during the present administration of the Department club gives each club woman an opportunity to serve her city, to co-operate with the public library and to add to the educational and cultural impetus of Port Arthur."

"How can she do it? In every home there is at least one good book which the family has read and which if added to the book collection of Memorial Library will represent a saving of at least from one to two dollars. Please bring with you to Monday's luncheon one book; Memorial Library especially needs good fiction for summer reading."

Acceptable Authors
"If you desire to purchase a book for this purpose any book by the following authors is acceptable: Rex Beach, B. M. Bower, James Oliver Cowdrey, Ethel M. Dell, Zane Grey, Rupert Hughes, George Barr McCutcheon, Myrtle Reed, Mary Roberts Rinehart, Arthur R. Reeve, Edna Lincoln, Harold Bell Wright, Grace Goodman, Gertrude Atherton, Margaret Widdemer, Jeffery Farnol, Frank Spurrman, Jean Webster, Henry Kitchell Webster, Harriet Stock, Booth Tarkington, E. Phillips Oppenheim, David Graham Phillips, Kathleen Norris, Robert W. Chambers, Cosmo Hamilton, Jackson Gregory, Jack London, Basil King, Ruth Sawyer, Harold Bindloss, Frank Packard, Edgar Rice Burroughs, Coningsby Dawson, Grace Miller White or any other popular author."

To Hear Club Reports
The Library Celebration, which is to be made into an annual affair for the Department club, will be sponsored by Mrs. Carter and will probably be an unusual affair at Monday's luncheon. This is the first affair of this nature ever held by the Department club.

In addition to the Library Celebration reports of the presidents of the various branches of the Department club will be made and a report of the year's work from all departments will be read.

JUDGE ASSAILS GIRL 'VAMPS'

Freeds Youths They Accuse in Wild Party

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., May 12.—The belief of Judge Willis B. Perkins that two school girls who preferred a serious charge against Arthur (Ossward), 18, and Elliott Washburn, 19, who were charged with the boys being placed on probation.

Salome Rolff, 13, and Margaret Lankard, 14, are the girls.

Found hiding beneath a bed in an untenanted house, the girls, who had been missing from their homes, charged they had been drugged and attacked.

Later they changed their story, declaring they went to the house willingly with the young men they accused.

"I am convinced, and the officers in the case are convinced, that you boys were led by these girls, who ought to be taken in charge either by their parents or some one else," the judge said to Ossward and Washburn, placing them on probation.

Frank Washburn, 20, and Charles Spence, 35, found guilty of furnishing hard cider to the girls at a party staged in the untenanted house, were fined.

The yards have been equipped with 20 dry-heated tunnels in which bricks will be baked to hardness in 24 hours instead of the old sun-drying process.

The climaxes of the picture are numerous. Ingram has taken a leaf from Poe, a leaf from Sardou and a scene from Richard Mansfield's study, "A Parisian Romance," and woven unusual scenes.

LEARNS OF WELL GOES TO WORK

Breckenridge Girl is Worth $2,000,000

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, May 12.—Miss Elsie Harding, 19, stenographer, met with the surprise of her life when she went to Arkansas recently to look over a forty-five acre tract of land that had come to her several years ago by inheritance. She found the land is in the heart of an oil district and that some of the largest wells there are close to its boundary lines.

She remained long enough to lease the land and to see five wells started flowing toward the oil pool. Her holdings are valued at more than $2,000,000 and she could have disposed of the land in smaller tracts at that figure, it is stated.

Notwithstanding the fortune and the attention in sight, Miss Harding longed for the more quiet life of a stenographer in preference to the excitement of the oil field.

She returned to Breckenridge and resumed her job in the county clerk's office. She stated that she had made no plans for spending the money that has come from the lease and which will come in still greater amounts from royalties.

DEADLY BEAN BEETLE IS INVADING U. S.

COLUMBUS, O., May 12.—The Mexican bean beetle is becoming one of the most serious pests of American agriculture, according to Professor D. M. DeLong of the entomology department at Ohio State University. He asserts that it undoubtedly will become a greater pest than the Euro, bean corn borer, which is ravaging the corn belt states at the present time.

Good Gulf Clashes Against Elks Today In 2nd Of Series

Two Strong City Teams Presented For Fandom's Critical Eye On Lakeshore Diamond At 3:30; Fast Baseball Battle Expected.

By BILL ARCHER

AGAIN on Sunday, which fandom is hoping will be a good day, Port Arthur is offered a classic semi-pro ball game. This afternoon at Lakeshore diamond, the Elks, headed by Skipper Cliff Gunn, will tangle with the Gulf in their second encounter of the season.

There will be others between the Gulf and the Elks, but the one today is of unusual interest due to the fact that already this year, the Elk skipper has guided his teammates to victory over Manager "Rusty" Davis' proteges.

The teams constitute perhaps the two strongest aggregations in the city; the Gulf, considered a strong contender for City League honors, and the Elks, chosen from the star players of the remaining three squads in the league. Both claim unusually strong factors in local ball circles; both have a prowess on the diamond that is undisputed; each is hungry for a victory over the other.

All of which points toward another classical battle that will probably leave Lakeshore Diamond with an historical moment.

In the past two weeks and in the days since the Elks and the Gulf formally opened the ball season in Port Arthur with a clash, both organizations have been adding strength to their contingents. The Gulf has added a string of husky field generals that play baseball; likewise, the Elks have been bringing their players into tip-top shape, and no one has ever said the Elk team wasn't a ball team. That point is agreed, as far as local fandom is concerned.

Skipper Davis has only recently added to his lineup a new second baseman, a new first baseman and another outfielder. They made their debut here Friday, when the Citizens trimmed the refinery boys to the tune of 4 to 1. It wasn't their fault the game wasn't sewed up, and everyone who witnessed their playing agreed they "knew their stuff."

Gunn has a host of veterans of the Port Arthur ball field to rely upon for his strength today; some of them are the leading clouters of the City League, some the stellar mound performers of the same organization. It was made known last night that the Elks will probably use the following lineup:

Hooker, ss; Peirister 1b; Morgan 2b; Burch cf; Peirister cf; Jordan lf; Romero 3b; Bell c; Cook, Krug and Leach pitchers.

Just what will start the fireworks for the Elks has not been announced, although it was made known the above-named hurlers, each of whom is well known to the fans of Port Arthur as being full of ability, will constitute the string from which Cliff Gunn will choose.

The Gulf lineup will probably include the following:

Flagg 2b; Trout cf; Smith 3b; Culver ss; Wagner 1b; Bowers lf; Dorsey cf; Cadenhead c.

Olivier will probably receive the nomination to begin the attack, Manager Davis said yesterday, although Brennan, Nobles and other hurlers of the Gulf crew will be present this afternoon.

The first game between these two clubs went on record as follows:

Elks 5; Gulf 2.

This afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, on Lakeshore, the second round of the grudge will be started, and it promises to be a great baseball scrap.

Manager Davis is promising that "we won't stop playing until the end of the ninth," and Skipper Gunn has made the same intimation.

NEW AUTO SPEEDWAY READY FOR OPENING NEXT SUNDAY FOLLOWING LENGTHY DELAY

Fans Invited to Watch Drivers Practice Turns on Dirt Track; Many Speedy Cars Expected for Opening

The opening of the Port Arthur automobile race track, officially known as the East Texas Speedway, will be on Sunday, May 20. This announcement was made Saturday by the management of the track. It had been hoped to make the opening soon, but close inspection of the progress of the work at the course demonstrated that it would be almost suicidal to permit the fast drivers to try to race on the course in its present condition.

As arranged for the opening meet, there will be four speed events on the program. The first race will be for twelve miles for cars capable of speeds of 67.12 miles an hour or better. Sixty-seven and one-half miles an hour means one complete circuit of the mile-and-a-half track in one minute and twenty seconds.

The prizes for this race will be $150 for first place; $100 for second place; and $50 for third place.

The second race also will be for twelve miles, but will be for cars of less speed ability. The entrants will be limited to cars with speeds of 60 to 67.12 miles an hour. No car not capable of doing a mile a minute will be considered. The first prize will be $125; second, $75; third, $50.

The third race will be for motor cycles. It will be twelve miles and will carry $100 for first; $75 for second and $25 for third.

The feature event will be the last race, a twenty-four mile free-for-all. First prize in this event will be $500; second prize, $250; third prize, $100.

The recent wet spell did much damage to the course that is not apparent to the uninitiated. The past week, however, it has been possible for the road grader, which finishes the surface of the track, to get down to real business.

Practice to begin Wednesday. According to Race Manager Hoskins, backed up by the grader, it will be possible for the racing machines to begin practice work on Wednesday afternoon. Among those expected to try out, unquestionably will be the famous yellow Mercer, the fast Texas entry of the Orange Racing company. This racing concern is headed by R. A. Moore, Jimmy Stakes, who will drive the Mercer, is anxious to be the first driver to turn a fast mile and a half on the new track and he promised Hoskins in Houston a few days ago that he would have the Mercer on the ground, ready to go, the moment the track was thrown open for practice.

John Mals, owner of the Dodge racer now parked in Port Arthur, left Houston for Indianapolis early in the week to get more and faster parts for his three Dodge cars. Mals found that in last Sunday's racing at Houston he had seriously damaged one of his cars. Patterns for the racing head he uses are in Indianapolis, so he rushed to that city to have three or four more of the heads cast and machined. One of these is for the car now in Port Arthur, which is to be raced at the opening meet, and, according to Mals, will add materially to his speed. At present, the car is in the shop.

Another fast car, and one with a reputation in several states, is the Green Broad Hudson. Broad broke a connecting rod in practice in Houston last Sunday, but has ordered a new set by express and hopes to have them installed in time for the opening meet here.

J. R. Bailey, Overland distributor and owner of the fast Overland, has said that Bert Pickett will be on the ground with the racing machine. He expects him to show something like 90 miles an hour. On the shelled roads around Houston, this car has shown a measured mile in 34 seconds, which is better than 100 miles an hour.

Husker Weemans with the Galveston Stambaker is another of the prospective entrants for opening day. Along with Weemans from the Island City will come J. A. Jersig with a fast Ford of his own design.

Drivers Examine Course. Jimmy Stakes and John Mals were visitors to the new course Monday and Tuesday. Both men have driven on the Houston track and both were loud in their praise of the new Port Arthur course.

Racing next Sunday will begin at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The interurban management has made preparations to handle a large crowd. A loading platform has been built at the end of the grandstand and patrons will have a walk of only half a block after leaving the cars. Entrance to the course for automobiles will be from the Beaumont road. Traffic officers will be stationed on the grounds to systematically park the cars. The parking will be done with a view to prompt departure after the race course proper.

VIGIL CARRIES OFF HONOR AT EASTERN MEET

Horse Leaves Pack Behind Cloud of Dust

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, Md., May 12.—Vigil won the $5,000 Preakness stakes here this afternoon from a crack field in the presence of a crowd of 40,000. His time was 1:53.35.

Goshawk took the lead when the barrier was lifted. Tall Timber swinging into second place and Zed third. They led the field in this order up to the third quarter when Zed spurred into second place.

Vigil came out of the pack like a thunderbolt as the stretch was reached. He spurred into the lead with Goshawk. Zed and Tall Timber rapidly falling. General Thatcher and Rialto forced ahead, passing Goshawk, Zed and Tall Timber.

General Thatcher, who had vast support in the stands, made a desperate bid for victory, but Vigil's lead was too great. Rialto came in third, well ahead of the pack. Vigil paid $11 to win, $6 for place and $3.70 to show. General Thatcher paid $6 for place, $2.50 to show. Rialto paid $2.90 to show.

Another fast car, and one with a reputation in several states, is the Green Broad Hudson. Broad broke a connecting rod in practice in Houston last Sunday, but has ordered a new set by express and hopes to have them installed in time for the opening meet here.
